Language learning website

Purpose: In this term I want to create a language learning website like Duolingo and Lingualeo where you can learn new vocabulary and play simple language games. On my websites there will be three types of users: learners, contributors, and administrators. Learners will be able to add the words and collocations they learned to their vocabulary and see them on their personal page.

<Content>: words

Content and entities: words and their translations, texts

Additional content variation: collocations ("find out")

New entity: training texts

Extension: the statistics for how many games you have played and how many words you have learnt
On the page for registered users: you would have the words and word collections you have added and eventually your game scores.
